NOT AN INFIDEL.

Sumner in his arraignment of President Grant, shows that he has forgotten the beating he received from "Bully" Brooks, and he now turns the weapons of his warfare upon Gen. Grant. Senator Sumner forgets, that Grant, aided by the "Boys in Blue" saved the nations life. He forgets that the people honor Grant for doing what none of the other Generals could do. He forgets that Grant succeeded where all others failed. It is folly to talk of a man's incapacity when he was successful in spite of enemies, the intelligence of other Generals, and the egotism and hate of such men as Sumner.

Suppose the Senator is correct when he says that Grant is guilty of nepotism, inasmuch as he has appointed thirteen of his own, and his wife's relations to office. We say admit it, for the sake of the argument. What does it prove? Simply that General Grant is not an infidel. To this point we wish to call the attention of the christian portion of the community. We take the Bible as our guide. We rely upon its teachings.—What it commands we obey. If we fail, we have compunctions of conscience, and a sorry time of it generally. But, Gen. Grant has shown both in peace and in war that he is, not only, a Bible student; but a christian. Senator Sumner may deliver eloquent, and well studied addresses, year in and year out; but, after all his charges of nepotism, we turn to our Bible and we there read in Timothy, V chapter and 8th verse, the following language:

"But if any provide not for his own, "and specially for those of his own "house, he hath denied the faith and is "worse than an infidel."

Sumner's speech, after all, according to the Bible only proves that Grant is not an infidel.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN? IS MEEK SINCERE?

Meek in his Watchman, says, that he will not change his journal in to a religious paper, if the Democrats endorse Greeley at Baltimore; but intimates, if they do, he will become one of Grant's hirelings.

This would be bad for Grant; but since the Liberals have nominated Victoria C. Woodhull and Fred Douglass for President and Vice President, it leaves a hole for Meek to crawl out of.

Mrs. Woodhull knows Meek. All that kind of women do. In the event of the endorsement of Greeley at Baltimore, Meek has the positive promise of being appointed Chairman of the State Committee of Pennsylvania in favor of Victoria Woodhull and Fred Douglass. And we have the best of authority for saying, that he (Meek) is ready to enter upon the duties of his appointment, as there will be money in it. Sam Josephs seconds the motion. Tax payers think of it: Meek and Sam Josephs, Victoria Woodhull, &c: Meek declares that the Court House Ring is with him. He says more, to wit: that the Ring dare not go back on him. Meek is a good thief.—The Ring may, or may not, go back on him. He and they can fight it out. But we do know that he is getting rich very fast. We know thus far he has covered his tracks exceedingly well. Jacob G. Meyer said that "The Legislatutre was no place for an honest man," yet Meek, at the risk of destroying the unity and harmony of his party, has forced his way to the Legislature for four sessions. Talk about thirteen thousand dollars: You, Mr. Meek, have stolen in your four sessions to the Legislature, in the shape of "Big Sandy Run Improvement Companies," and other soulless corporations which you originated, more than $30,000 of the people's money. Dare you deny it? You are no better than Sam Josephs. He is your equal, and you are equal to him. Between you, Sumner's Civil Rights bill makes no difference.—It puts you on an equality.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.

The contest over the Vice Presidency, which has assumed such bitter aspect since yesterday morning, is discussed to the almost entire exclusion of all other topics. The questions as to the platform and the selection of officers to preside over the convention, have disappeared from view in the struggle for the second place on the ticket. Until a late hour last evening caucussing was continued with extraordinary vigor on the part of both friends of Wilson and Colfax. When the day's work was brought to an end there was no mistaking the signs or ignoring the fact that Wilson had made rapid strides into public favor. His friends saw the necessity for a more thorough organization and system by which the sentiments of doubtful delegates could be influenced, and they availed themselves of the knowledge of several shrewd politicians to assist them in putting their decision in practice. Although Mr. Wilson had gained rapidly the supporters of Colfax were not alarmed, but insisted that their candidate would still have the required strength to nominate him on the first ballot. Both sides claimed about three hundred votes on the first ballot.

At an early hour this morning the struggle was resumed, and as the Ohio, Illinois, and Pennsylvania delegations were to hold caucuses, both parties naturally devoted their exertions to securing an expression favorable to their respective favorites from those delegations.

MEETING OF THE STATE DELEGATIONS.

The Pennsylvania delegation, at half-past 10 o'clock, held a caucus in their headquarters at the Girard house, for the purpose of gaining some definite position in the convention as regards the vice presidency; Hon. Morton M'Michael in the chair.

An informal ballot was cast, the only names mentioned being Wilson, Colfax and John Scott, of Pennsylvania. The following was the vote cast: Wilson, of Massachusetts, 33; Schuyler Colfax, 13, and John Scott, of Pennsylvania, 9. Wm. M. Bunn, Esq., then moved that Wilson be made the unanimous choice of the delegation.

Mr. M'Michael said he could not agree to that motion as long as a Pennsylvanian was in the field. The motion was then put and agreed to. The representative of the delegation to the Committee on Permanent Organization was then instructed to recommend the name of Postmaster Henry H. Bingham, of Philadelphia, as first secretary of the convention. The delegation then proceeded to the Academy of Music.

THE PRELIMINARY PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONVENTION.

At noon Hon. Morton M'Michael, accompanied by a number of distinguished gentlemen, ascended the platform, and as the to-be temporary chairman approached the rostrum there was a wild outburst of applause from the auditorium intermingled with the National medley, which Beck's band was giving in its finest style.

Just prior to the convention being called to order, the band gave with telling effect, "John Brown's Soul is Marching On," and the scene at this moment was exciting in the extreme, the voices of the delegates those from the Southern States being particularly noticeable, joining in the chorus. This novel proceeding aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators, who indulged in cheering and waving their handkerchiefs.

As the delegations from South Carolina, Arkansas and Louisiana, composed largely of colored gentlemen, entered, the band played "Auld Lang Syne," which was well received by the auditors.

THE CALL TO ORDER.

At 12.15 o'clock the bewildered and bedazzled delegates were called to order by H. B. Claflin, chairman of the National Committee, who, in a few eloquent words, stated the objects and purposes of the convention.

The Rev. Dr. Reed, of the Presbyterian church, at Eighth and Cherry streets, then opened the proceedings with prayer.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENCY.

Hon. Morton M'Michael being elected temporary president, thanked the convention for the honor conferred on him, and cordially welcomed the delegates to the State and city, then in a lengthy speech reviewed the political situation. When the name of Grant was mentioned as that one which would carry with it the full strength of the country, the delegates arose en masse, and with thundering cheers and waving of hats and clapping of hands, responded to the words of the speaker.

He was constantly interrupted by the applause of the assemblage, and at his brief sketch of what the future of the Liberal and Democratic parties would be there was great laughter. As he took his seat the Academy rung with cheers for Grant and the ticket.

At the conclusion of Mr. M'Michael's speech, on motion of Stanly T. Pullen, of Maine, John W. Newlin, of New Jersey Hiram Potter, Jr., of Florida, and John R. Hubbard, of West Virginia, were elected temporary secretaries.

The chairman announced that it was necessary at this time to select the committees, which was accordingly done.

SECOND DAY.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6, 1872,

THE GLORIOUS WORK OF THE DAY.

The National Republican Convention has done glorious work to day, and the spirit of the Convention and the result of their deliberations has inspired Republicans with unextinguishable enthusiasm and confidence, and filled the Democrats and Greeley Republicans with dire dismay. When the Convention met at ten o'clock this morning, all the available space in the vast Academy which seats four thousand persons, was occupied, the auditorium with delegates and the galleries with spectators. In such multitudes of spectators it was to be expected that there would be many attracted by curiosity merely, having no sympathy with the Republican party, but when Grant's name was presented, not only the delegates but the large majority of the spectators in the galleries joined in the shouts with which the honored name was greeted. The band struck up "Hail to the Chief," and at the same moment an immense pile of canvas arose at the rear of the stage presenting a splendid on horseback. As the picture rose to view, the whole convention started to their feet and greeted the portrait with deafening shouts, to which were added enthusiastic responses from the galleries. Then the roll of States was called, and, as State after State, and Territory after Territory contributed its stone to the pyramid which the Republican party, in National Convention assembled, erected, to its chosen leader, cheers greeted the result of each vote. And finally, when Wyoming had placed the topmost stone on the structure, and the work was announced to be completed.

THE SCENE BEGGARED DESCRIPTION.

Old men and young, matrons and maidens, joined in the acclaim, recognizing the fact that the Repnblican party had placed in nomination the man most worthy to be intrusted with the administration of our government for the next four years. The band played.

"JOHN BROWN'S BODY."

The whole immense audience rising to their feet, waving hats and handkerchiefs and cheering in grand chorus till "Glory, glory, hallalujah!" shook the house. Then followed other patriotic acts for the space of a full half hour, the audience joining in the choruses to each. L. B. Church, of Montanna, sang "Red, White and Blue," which he sang in the Convention which nominated Lincoln twelve years ago. The effect of the announcement of this fact, and the song itself, was electrical The audience was completely carried away, and a perfect whirlwind of cheers swept through the Academy carrying all before it. While those scenes were being enacted, it was curious to note.

THE APPEARANCE OE THE GREELEY REPUBLICANS.

Whitelaw Reid and Sam. Bowles occupied seats near your correspondent, and as the enthusiasm for Grant was manifested in every delegation and through out the galleries, so different from the reception from Greeley's nomination at Cincinnati, they looked as if they saw the "handwriting on the wall."

THE PLATFORM.

Following the nomination of Grant came the presentation of names for Vice President; but before a ballot was taken the Committee on Resolutions made their report. Each successive plank as it was read by Gov. Hawley was greeted with applause, the one relating to the Woman question receiving a marked indorsement,

THE VOTE FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

During the ballot for Vice President the utmost excitement prevailed. Colfax's friends are, of course deeply disappointed at his defeat, but they take it in the best possible spirit. When the call of States and Territories had been completed, Wilson had received 364½ votes, and Colfax 320½, 377 being necessary to a choice. Before the result was announced Virginia, which had cast a complimentary vote for J. F. Lewis, of that State changed twenty votes from Lewis to Wilson, giving him the nomination. This action was received with enthusiasm only surpassed by that which followed the nomination of Grant. The feeling was intensified when Henry S. Lane, Chairman of the Indiana delegation, moved that the nomination of Wilson be made unanimous. The nomination is unanimously conceded to have been one of the strongest that could have been made. Mr. Colfax's friends concede that Wilson is a more popular man especially among the workingmen and in the South, and will give him their hearty support. Upon the whole,

THE RESULT OF THE CONVENTION GIVES ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

To all Republicans. The high character of the delegates, the harmony and good feeling which have prevailed throughout the entire proceedings, even among the friends of opposing candidates, and the strength of the nominations give the supporters of the administration full assurance that the ticket nominated to-day will be triumphantly indorsed by the people of the United States in November.

HOW THE STATES AND TERRITORIES VOTED.

The roll was called for the first ballot, which resulted as follows: As each State was called the Chairman of its delegation, in a few terse sentences, announced its unanimous vote for Grant, each announcement being the signal for applause.

Nebraska, in announcing its vote, said that State gave six for the man who will tan the hide of Horace, in the vote of Democratic corruption and damnation.

Mr. Townsend, in calling the vote of New York, gave it for Grant—the man of whom Greeley said, he had never been beaten and never would be. [Long and uproarious applause.]

On the call of Pennsylvania, her chairman was greeted with applause and loud cries of "Platform, platform." Mr. McMichael declined to come forward, but said, Pennsylvania without any words lent her full heart and cast fifty-seven votes for Grant.

When General Burnside rose to vote for Rhode Island, he was greeted with great cheers, which was continued until he took the platform, where he cast eight votes for his old comrade in arms—General Grant.

The District of Columbia delegate said she had a desirable house to rent, which was much sought after, but the District wanted to re-let it to the same tenant.

NOT A BREAK IN THE LINE.

All the States and Territories having been called, the Chairman announced that the entire vote, 732 in all, having been cast for Ulysses S. Grant, the latter was the nominee of this Convention as its candidate for the Presidency. The whole Convention rose en masse, together with the audience, singing the hymn "Glory, Glory Hallelujah!" the band playing "Yankee Doodle." The cheering and singing continued for some time, the whole Academy ringing with music and the shouting and cheering of the delegates.

THE RESULT—HENRY WILSON THE SUCCESSFUL MAN.

When the roll was called, the vote stood 364½ for Wilson, 321¼, for Colfax.

Before the result was announced, Virginia changed her vote to Wilson, securing him his nomination. Tremendous confusion arose, States changing their votes, and after some cheering Mr. Wilson's nomination was made unanimous, on motion of General Lane, Chairman of the Indiana delegates. This generous action on the part of the delegates from Mr. Colfax's own State was the signal for renewed applause, which continued for a considerable time.

When the excitement had subsided, the chairman announced Grant and Wilson as the nominees of the convention.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

The Chair announced that the Committee on Resolutions was present, and put the question whether the Convention would now hear their report. He declared it carried. Mr. Schofield, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, announced that General Hawley, Secretary of the Committee, would read the resolutions.

He said the Committee had but a short time in which to consider so large a number of questions; so if the gentlemen did not find in the platform everything that they desired, he hoped they would rest assured that it was not excluded from any indisposition to take up and act upon all. Gen. Hawley then read the platform.

The Republican party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history and announces its position upon questions before the country.

1st. During eleven years of supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time. It suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, decreed equal the citizenship of all, and established universal suffrage. In exhibition of unparalleled magnanimity it criminally punished no man for political offenses, and warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily decreased with a firm hand the resultant discords of the great war, and initiated a wise policy towards the Indians. The Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generally aided and successfully conducted, the public lands freely given to actual settlers, immigration protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of naturalized citizens' rights secured from European powers. A uniform national currency has been provided, repudiation frowned down, the national credit sustained under the most extraordinary burdens, and new bonds negotiated at lower rates. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied: despite the annual large reductions of the rates of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during Gen. Grant's presidency at the rate of one hundred million dollars a year. A great financial crisis has been avoided, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land; menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the nation kept in high respect throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future. We believe the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men composed chiefly of those who have resisted every step of this beneficial progress.

2nd. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither the law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color or previous condition of servitude.

3rd. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained, because they are right; not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured these amendments.

4th. The National Government should seek to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all people who strive for greater liberty.

5th. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the government are considered rewards for mere party zeal is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform in the system, by-laws which shall abolish the evils of patronage, and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity essential qualifications for public position without practically creating a life tenure of office.

6th. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the national domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

7th. The annual revenues, after paying this current debt, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal, and the revenue except so much as may derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, that raised by duties on importations, the duties of which should be so adjusted as to aid in receiving remunerative wages to labor and promote the industries, growth and enterprise of the whole country;

8th. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union; their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled without regard to length of service or cause of such discharge.

9th. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance—once a subject always a subject—having at last through the efforts of the Republican party been abandoned and the American idea of an individual's right to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by former governments, and we urge continual and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary immigration.

10th. The franking privilege ought to be abolished, and the way prepared for a speedy reduction in the rates of postage.

11th. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of so changing legislation as to afford full protection and the amplest field for capital, and for labor, the creator of capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12th. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression for violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions, and for the protection of the ballot-box, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the nation.

13th. We denounce repudiation of the public debt in any form or disguise as a national crime, witness with pride the reduction of the public debt and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent currency will be perfected by the speedy resumption of specie payment.

14th. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom. Their admission to wider fields of usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15th. We heartily approve the action of Congress in extending amnesty to those lately in rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and national feeling throughout the land.

16th. The Republican party propose to respect the rights reserved by the people to themselves as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and to the Federal Government. It disapproves of resort to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of evils by interference with the rights not surrendered by the people to either State or National Government.

17th. It is the duty of the general government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship building.

18th. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorrigable integrity and illustrious services of Ulysses S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to day on a new march to victory.

Mr. Burnside now moved the adoption of the platform as a whole. Carried with only half a dozen dissenting votes.

The convention then adjourned by singing "Auld Lang Syne" and amidst the playing of bands and firing of guns

A SWEEPING Republican victory in Oregon is the first popular expression in regard to the Cincinnati Convention. The Republicans of that State carried about everything there was to carry. The State has been revolutionized and will surely go for Grant in November. The Greeleyites have been and are still looking for popular indications. State elections are always the most significant, and this in Oregon is as direct an expression of opinion by the people of that State as there could well be, and no one who means to observe faithfully and interpret truly the signs of the times will treat lightly this indication of what will be the result of the elections that are to follow.

SUMNER says "he rocked the cradle of the Republican party." Suppose he did. We are inclined to think that several thousand other people rocked about as much as he did. Such egotism and vanity manifested by a man of Senator Sumner's age, is inexcusible—indeed it is lamentable.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

A POOR MAN'S DARLING.

A TALE OF HARD TIMES.

Why did you leave me, Asthore Machree?
You were life, you were light, you were all to me;
Oh our hearts are sad, and our cot is lone,
For we miss your face by the old hearthstone.

We cannot laugh, for we do not hear
Your merry laugh, love, so soft and clear;
We never dance as we danced of yore,
When your little feet beat the cabin floor.

But we gather around the fire at night,
And the white walls gleam in the ruddy light;
There we see your cloak and your little chair—
But oh, my darling, you are not there!

Your prayer-book is faded, old, and brown—
Here and there, as you left them, the leaves turned down;
And oh, my darling, I even trace
Your finger-marks in some well-worn place.

Then each faded leaf I fondly kiss;
Oh, no relic of old is so dear as this!
And I weep, my darling, when none are near
O'er the little fingers that rested here.

My gentle Elly, you came to me
In the cold, dark hour of adversity;
We were never very poor, but a jewel rare
Shone on our heart, love, when you were there.

Dearer you grew to our hearts each day—
Every cold, harsh thought, love, you smiled away;
And each want in our love we soon forgot,
For you brought content to our humble cot.

Light was my heart as I toiled away;
For I thought of you as I tossed the hay;
And the fairest blossoms that round me grew,
My own little darling, I kept for you.

Blithely I sung when my toil was o'er,
As I sauntered on to our cabin door;
For I saw in the shade of the old ash-tree
Your smiling face looking out for me.

Ah, me! how your sweet blue eyes would shine
As I climbed the hill with your hand in mine;
But you talked so wise that you make me start
And clasp you close to my trembling heart.

The golden autumn glided past,
And the dreaded winter came on at last;
While smaller each day grew our little store,
Till the last had gone and we had no more.

Hunger my darling, is heard to bear;
Still without murmur you bore your share!
Like a patient spirit you hovered near,
In want and in sorrow our hearts to cheer.

Katey and Mary would cry for bread,
But you laughed and danced, love, and sang instead.
Oh, dear little heart! you were kind and brave;
You knew there was none, so you did not crave.

You sang when your voice was faint and weak,
When the bloom had flown from your fair, round cheek;
In your tiny breast gnawed the hunger pain,
But your lips, my darling, would not complain.

Oh, 'twas sweet to feel your soft arms twine,
And your warm young face pressing close to mine,
"Are you hungry, love?" I would whisper low;
But you shook your head, and you answered "No."

My darling! I saw you fade away
Like the last soft glance of the closing day:
As the dying note of some magic strain
That charms the heart, then is hushed again.

The shadow of death, love-dimmed your eyes,
As the dark clouds pass o'er the sunny skies;
And drooping lids o'er those sweet eyes fell
At the last soft stroke of the vesper bell.

A little sight—it was all I heard—
Like the flattering wing of a captive bird;
And a sobbing voice, from behind the bed,
Saying: "Father, father, is Elly dead?"

Chamber's Journal

People With Families.

It has been said that one of the advantages Adam and Eve possessed was that there was no mother-in-law in either case. Eve was not annoyed with Adam's telling her how his mother used to cook things, and drawing contrasts greatly to the advantage of that old lady; and Adam was not fretted into an early grave by the incursions of his wife's mother into the family domain. A more general view of the subject may be had, however, by considering that neither party enjoyed the opportunity of gabbling about family connections. It seems a pity that the older the world gets the more the occasion is multiplied for talk of this description. To marry a woman without a family is the ideal which every marrying man has held before himself at some time or other. It must be so pleasant never, by any possibility, to be conjugally reminded that the stock you come from is inferior to your wife's, and that you are, in fact, a rather common sort of creature, upon, whom the spouse of your bosom is justified in looking somewhat down. The equality of sexes becomes a fiction when one's wife insists upon putting on airs and talking incessantly about her family. There are some women who are thus forever magnifying "papa" and "mamma," who point all their arguments by references to "aunt" and 'uncle and who ignore the relatives of the wretched beings who married them, with a complacent persistency exceedingly hard to forgive. The woman with a family never tires of informing you that her father was one of the most eminent lawyers, or clergymen, or whatever else he may have been, that the United States has yet produced, and that he accumulated his wealth by a course of unswerving integrity, combined with amazing talent and tireless industry. She will tell you that her mother belongs to one of the oldest and best families of New England, that her veins are full of the genuine blue blood of aristocracy, that her sister is a leader of fashionable society, and that her brothers are among the brightest and best of mankind. There is no other subject upon which her tongue is so glib and tireless. Lead her off the track and she will return to it again and again. She is constitutionally incapable of perceiving that the subject is without interest for you. In fact, the man who does not join with her in her apotheosis of her family is a barbarian and a brute. One of two fates awaits the husband of such a woman. Her egotism takes the form of snubbing him completely, or else his marriage with her raises him into membership with her "family," and she wreathes around his head a nimbus as glorious as that which spans the shoulders of papa and mamma.

The man with a family is hardly less galling. He usually shuts himself up in a stolid and saturnine contempt for the inferior race of beings to whom his wife's relatives belong, and treats her with an air of amiable condescension which is intended to put her at her ease. He receives his mother-in-law with laborious dignity, and his semi-filial kiss has as much affection in it as the tap of a woodpecker's bill. Perhaps the hardest thing to endure, however, is the virtuous toleration with which he treats the distant relatives, the poor connections of his wife's family. "I might have expected this," is plainly written on his countenance when some thread-bare cousin drops in to a Sunday dinner, or when some aunt from the country monopolises the comfortable corner in the pew. A consciousness of his long-suffering, a conviction that the world will give him credit for "putting up" with this sort of thing, mark all his actions, and perhaps secure for him the only compensation he is capable of. If his wife happen to have what is called an amiable disposition, she soon sinks to the condition of a crushed creature—prone and flat beneath the family of her high and mighty husband. And unless that family itself take pity on her, and come to the rescue, as is sometimes the case, she might just as well have married the town-pump, for all the dignity that will accrue to her or affection she will inspire.

THE Cincinnati Gazette in a lengthy and ably written editorial on the 'Liberal' nominations uses the following language: "Greeley no longer stands as a Republican. He is in open negotiation with the Democratic party to bring it into power for the price of the Presidential office. To suppose that Republicans will follow him is to impute that they never had any Republican principles, and that they lack moral perception of base treachery. The nomination of Greeley was the sinking of all the fair promises of high statesmanship and serene impartiality in the executive office and was a palpable fall to the most unscrupulous caucus management, to open bargain and sale, and to the nomination of a man not only the most unfit for administrative duties of any prominent man that could be named in the whole country, but of a man who, by his eccentricities and his unbounded presumption in matters where he has no more judgment than a child, would be the most dangerous man that could be picked out of the nation for President. Thus, instead of the quality of superior statesmanship, coupled with equal fidelity to Republican principles, or even with a lofty judicial impartiality, being presented to the Republican electors by the Cincinnati nomination, against Grant they behold a man notoriously unfit and dangerous, and who for a price has offered to betray the Republican party and bring the Democratic into power. No man is so universally known in America in his personal characteristics as Horace Greeley. Therefore it is universally known that by his mental and moral qualities and his temperament, he is both unfit for the Presidency and would be dangerous in it. If the Democratic party shall nominate this man, we shall see a second time the miserable spectacle of a party willing to expose their country to the heaviest calamities for the chance that through its convulsions, they may regain power. In addition to every Republican who cares for his principles or his party, it is reasonable to suppose that there are many Democrats who will vote for Grant to save the country from the incalculable dangers of Greeley, and therefore that his nomination by the Democratic Convention will cause vastly more disintegration in that party than the Republican. The notion that Greeley can carry any considerable part of the black vote of the South is the wild idea that the blacks are so destitute of intelligence, and of even brute instinct, as to follow a man when he is presented to them as the candidate of all those who hate, oppress, persecute and murder them. It supposes that when the Greeley banner is borne at the head of the Kuklux column, the freedmen will fall in to its support."

"Is Miss Blinking at home?" asked Mr. Sanders of the Irish girl who answered the ring at the door. "Yes, I b'lave she is, sir." "Is she engaged?" "An' is it engaged, you say? Faith, an' I can't tell ye, sir; but she kissed Mr. Vincent last evening as if she had not seen the like uv him, an' it's engaged I b'lave they are sir."

"WHY, Ichabod, I thought you got married mor'n a year ago?" "Well, aunt Jerusha, it was talked of, but I found out that the girl and all her folks were opposed to it, and so I jest give 'em all the mitten and let the thing drop."

Dolly Vardens.

If husbands are to be mistaken in "Dolly Varden" dresses as was an unfortunate husband in Philadelphia, the sooner the fashion is squelched, the better will it be for the peace of society. The husband in question, one night missed from the supper table his wife Matilda, and inquired of his little boy whither had she gone, and just at that moment the dining room door swung open, and a lady entered. The husband observed a wild look in her eye, and also noticed that she was attired in an out-landish style having on, as he says, a dress with sun flowers, and cabbages and punpkins worked all over it, and a lot of snakes squirming around for a back ground.

Rising, the man said, "Madam, whom do you wish to see?" and then said, aside "Poor thing, she's crazy." That last remark settled the business for him, as the weird female made a bolt and tightly grasped his Adam's apple and choked him until his face assumed the color of a banner of the Commune. After she had enjoyed a surfeit of choking her husband she flopped into a chair, and with tears coursing each other down her cheek, exclaimed: That I should ever live to hear my husband say that I was crazy." This amused the husband, and elevating himself to his full proportions, said:

"You can't blame me, madam, for supposing you an insane woman, and now that I know you are really the mother of these interesting children, will you have the kindness to retire to the sanctity of your chamber and peel yourself of that piece of furniture chintz, or window curtain, or whatever it is you call it."

"Window curtain, chintz!" said the spouse, why it's you that's out of your head. That's a Dolly Varden, and a very pretty pattern, too."

"Madam," replied the husband, "we may be out of our head, but if that is a Dolly Varden we are most decidedly out of pocket. Why it looks like a circus dress, and the idea of a woman at your time of life—"

"My time of life!"

"Yes, your time of life. The next thing, I suppose, you will be practicing the trapeze act in the back yard. Why it is enough to give a man the delirium tremens to look at it. Who ever saw such a pattern? It's flash wall paper run mad. You look exactly like some Japanese tea sign. And now just bounce out here with that Feejee battle flag or you'll scare the baby to death."

There was an ominous pause for a moment, and then the eldest daughter said:

"Why, you ought to be ashamed of yourself, father. It's all the style, and I am going to have one, too; there now."

"Yes, and I want one; all the girls have got them." Thus spoke Maria, the second eldest. "Any more?" gasped the husband, "are there any more? Hadn't the baby better have one? I guess I'll get one myself. How do they make up for pantaloons? Ha! Ha! H! (demoniacally). Let me clutch it. Bring me a pattern of monkeys scaling lamp-posts. How would a chinese puzzle look; or a map of Fairmount Park?" All the rest is a blank. The unhappy husband has just been liberated from an asylum and pronounced cured. But the only way they managed it was to dress him up in a Dolly Varden marked out with the ground plan of the streets of Boston.

The Girl Who Wins.

The time has passed away when woman must be pale and delicate to be called interesting—when she must be totally ignorant of all practical knowledge to be called refined and high-bred—when she must know nothing of the current political news of the day, or be called masculine and strong minded.

It is not a sign of high birth or refinement to be sickly and ignorant. Those who affect anything of the kind are behind the times, and must skake up and air themselves, mentally and physically, or drop under the firm strides of common sense ideas and be crushed into utter insignificance.

In these days an active, rosy-faced girl, with brain quick and clear, warm, light heart, a temper quickly heated at intended insult or injury, and just as quick to forgive; whose feet can run as fast as her tongue and not put her out of breath; who is not afraid of freckles, or to breathe the pure air of heaven, unrestrained by the drawn curtains of a close carriage; and, above all, who can speak her mind and give her opinion on important topics which interest intelligent people, is the true girl who will make a good woman.

This is the girl who wins in these days. Even fops and dandies, who strongly oppose woman's rights, like a woman who can talk well, even if she is not handsome. They weary of the most beautiful creature, if she is not smart. They say, "Aw 'pears, she is a beauty, and no mistake, but she won't do for me—lack of brains"—of which commodity, it would seem, she could have little use in her association with him; however, to please an empty-headed fop, a woman must know something.

A BOSTON girl being asked if she had not once been engaged to a party by the name of Jackson, who was at the time a Harvard student, languidly replied, "I remember the circumstance perfectly, but I am not certain about the name."

Social Pretence—Real Attainment Limited.

There is certainly enough of sham and conceited personal consequence in the world around us. We know that a great share of this is based upon mere pretense, upon position, occupation, or profession. This is the stock in trade; and upon this imaginary fortunes of self-aggrandizement are built up to placate individual weakness and dazzle surrounding folly. We confess the general recognition of, these conceits is humiliating, but the facts are patent. Society is influenced by the false and fictitious, while tinsel and show go far to make it up warp and woof.

But, nevertheless, we do not despair, nor bow down to these little gods, or worship at their shrines. We look upon the world as a strange medley, and make the best of it. While there is not a little that is evil and imperfect, there is much that is beautiful and lovely. While there is something to condemn, there is a great deal to praise and admire. In spite of all we may still press on to a higher goal, to a purer atmosphere, and a higher elevation of thought and feeling.

The world is wide, and the avenues to real development and genuine culture, in all the elements of ability, greatness, and goodness, are still open to the masses of men. Man is still man, in spite of his fictitious surroundings. The germs of honest growth exist, and the inspirations of genius may be found in all classes of our population.

Innate power is limited to no condition or occupation. And wherever it can be found with industry and persistent determination it may advance and reach the crown of success. There may be a monopoly of printed information in books and libraries, which lies beyond the reach of the masses, but there can be no monopoly of thought. This is the native province of every individual mind, and by the right use, of experience, observation, reflection, and circulation, the range of ideas will enlarge, and the power of mental casuistry and the process of reasoning will advance to the higher conditions and more complete comprehension of the philosophy of mind and the relation of things.

It is quite true the race for improvement and recognition may be often blocked with social instructions, but these may be overcome. The fact remains for every individuality to work out its own development and reach its own destiny. Each for himself must fill the measure of his own strength. And if the highest round in the ladder is not reached, it will be found by industry and perseverance that a real advance has been made and a higher elevation has been gained. The result is apparent, while a clearer insight responds to the effort, and a broader vision opens to the enlarged sense which now comprehends the view.

Style in Old Times.

In 1872 Governor Hancock received his guests in a red velvet cap, within which was one of fine linen, turned up over the edge of the velvet one or two inches. He wore a blue damask gown, lined with silk, a white satin embroidered waistcoat, black satin small clothes, white silk stockings, and red morocco slippers.

The Judges of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, as late as 1773, wore robes of scarlet, faced with black velvet; and in summer black silk gowns; gentlemen wore coats of every variety of color, generally the cape and collar of velvet of a different color from the coat. In 1780 Gen. Washington arrived in New York from Mount Vernon, to assume the duties of the presidency. He was dressed in a full suit of Virginia homespun. On his visit to New England he wore the old continental uniform, except on the Sabbath, when he appeared in black. John Adams, when Vice President, wore a sword, and walked about the streets with his hat under his arm. At his levees in Philadelphia, President Washington was clad in black velvet, his hair powdered and gathered behind in a silk bag; yellow gloves; knee and shoe buckles; he held in his hand a cocked hat ornamented with a cockade, fringed about an inch deep with black feathers, a long sword in a white scabbard, with a polished steel hilt, hung at his hip.

JUDGMENT AND TASTE.—Judgment compels us to admire and approve that which requires the most intellect to invent, the most application to effect. Taste allows us to be pleased with inferior productions. Taste is a gift, judgment a purchase; the one sometimes evincing itself in natures favorites long before the age that gives birth to judgment, whereas the other can be the result of study and experience. Taste may be compared to a delightful melody, which even the childhood of genius has been frequently known to produce. Judgment is harmony, which call upon the musician for many an arduous hour, before the rules upon which it is founded can be understood.

OLIVE LOGAN commenced one of her lectures at Newark, recently, with the remark, "Whenever I see a pretty girl, I want to clasp her in my arms." "So do we," shouted the boys in the gallery.—For a moment Olive was nonplussed, but, recovering her self-possession, she replied, "Well, boys, I don't blame you."

—Guilt is ever suspicious and always in fear.

A Modern Wife.

"You're a pretty girl to be married!" said an aged aunt to her niece. "Why, what do you know about housekeeping, just from a boarding school? I am sure your husband has need of a mint of money."

La! aunt, expect to board; you need not think I shall bother my head with domestic concerns. Everybody boards now that gets married genteelly the first year. Mr. Hyde says he can get first-class board and accommodations for fifteen dollars; two rooms beautifully situated! and I am sure that is cheap enough. What is Hyde's salary? Why, six hundred dollars now, and the promise of promotion—perhaps eight hundred before the next year is out."

"So you are going to live on the perhaps, are you? Now let me tell you, Susie, you talk foolishly. If your husband is at present receiving six hundred, do you lay up one of them? It's all nonsense to go beyond your means."

"Why, aunt! nobody would respect us if we did not live as stylish as other people; there is a great deal in beginning."

"True, child, that is what I am trying to impress upon you."

The year passed away. Susie lived in style, paid fifteen dollars for board, received her genteel acquaintances, worked some fancy netting, drew a few sketchings from oil paintings, grew tired of boarding, and was just entering upon fashionable housekeeping, when, lo! a defalcation came out. Hyde had taken money unlawfully, was arrested, held to bail, and a prison stared him in the face.

Susie did not believe him guilty; they had always lived so economical, and it could not be.

But the trial proved otherwise, and he was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for years.

"How did you come to do so, Hyde?" asked the good old aunt.

"To please my wife's fancy," was the reply. "She wanted to live like other people, and I wished to gratify her, and in this way I committed my first breach of trust.

The broken-hearted wife lamented the beginning which she had made, when alas! it was too late to rectify it. She found respectability preferable to gentility. She now lives at her father's with a worse than widow's sorrow to harrow her feelings, and takes in sewing for a livelihood.

The plain road to ruin is here plainly marked out. We see what must be the result of such a course. But are not thousands of others sacrificing their husband's reputation by less obvious but still as certain course of extravagance? Off with the nonensical thought that gentility demands such a sacrifice beyond one's ability. If you value the opinions of the truly worthy and estimable, you will find them always on the side of prudent expenditure and economical living.

"Cut your garments according to your cloth," is an old maxim—and the sentiment is as true now as in the olden time. A life of gaudy show may do far a butterfly, but not for a man or woman who expects to survive one season.

Pictures.

In the morning of life we paint, with the brush of fancy, our beautiful idea of the future lying out before us. A picture of cloudless skies and brilliant sunshine; of flower-strewn paths and tropic bloom. A picture where joy, and love, and friendship, and fame, stand holding out their beautiful offerings, and we the centre figure of the whole. But how different the pictures painted each day of life by the brush of the pitiless real! Not one picture, but many, for the scenes are ever shifting. The skies are clouded, and the sunshine faded. The flowers are withered, and hide the thorns no longer. Sorrow steps in where joy had stood; hate takes the place of love; friendship, that we had painted with a beautiful face, takes on the hideous look of treachery. At the evening of life we gaze at the pictures in the gallery of memory, and comparing the one that fancy painted, with those stamped upon our hearts by the stern realities of life, we wonder where fancy got its beautiful false colorings.

Men Of Few Words.

Some men use words as riflemen use bullets. They say but little. The few words used go right to the mark. They let you talk, and guide with their eyes and face, on and on, till what you say can be answered in a word or two, and then they lance out a sentence, pierce the matter to the quick, and are done. Your conversation falls into their mind as a river into a deep chasm, and is lost from sight by its depth and darkness. They will sometimes surprise you with a few words, that go to the mark like a gunshot, and then they are silent again, as if they were reloading. Such men are safe counsellors, and true friends where they profess to be such. To them truth is more valuable than gold, while pretension is too gauzy to deceive them. Words without point, to them, are like titles without merit, only betraying the weakness of the blinded dupes who are ever used as promoters of other men's schemes.

—Pride and indolence make more slaves than oppression.

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM.

Below will be found the Resolutions adopted by the convention which placed in nomination Gen John F. Hartranft, Hon. Ulysses Mercur, Gen. Harrison Allen and the entire State Ticket. The Resolutions were written by that clear headed and efficient Republican—Russel Errett, Esq., and have the true ring. Republicans, workingmen and all honest Democrats, can safely stand upon this platform. Let them be carried out in good faith and there need be no fears entertained in regard to the salvation and perpetuity of the government either State or national:

1. That we reaffirm our devotion to the principles of the Republican party, and our belief that the continued existence of that party is necessary to the maintenance and success of those principles. The grand and fundamental idea of the equality of all men in political rights is not professed by any other party, and can be sustained faithfully only by those who are sincerely committed to it.

2. That the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States has not been sufficiently acquiesced in by all to render certain and secure their permanent incorporation in that instrument, and hence the administration of the government can safely be entrusted only to that party which is heartily, and beyond question, committed to them, and the policy necessary to put them into successful operation.

2. That we are now, more than ever, called to sustain the policy of national protection to American industry. If the laborer is worthy of his hire, and a fair day's work entitles the worker to a fair day's pay, we must continue to throw the protecting arm of the government around those who toil for their daily bread. The protective policy alone makes labor contented and capital secure. It renders employment certain, and pay ample and satisfactory; whilst free trade means that our laborers and mechanics must either work for lower wages or that our factories should be closed through foreign competition, and the workingmen of the country deprived of employment.

4. That the public lands belong to the people, and should be reserved for the people. We, therefore, pronounce most decidedly against any further appropriation of the public lands in behalf of corporations or individuals. All lands not sold according to law should be open to preemption and actual settlement.

5. That we demand a continued adherence to the policy hitherto pursued, under Republican auspices, in our State and in the nation, of a steady and gradual reduction of the public debt. The interests of the people require that the most rigid economy should be practiced in the administration of both the Nation and the State governments, and that taxes should be reduced in both as rapidly as is consistent with the honorable maintenance of the public credit, and the certain extinguishment of all the public debt.

6. That we are earnestly in favor of the earliest possible removal of the duties on tea and coffee, and urge the prompt passage of the bill for that purpose now before Congress.

7. That we heartily approve of the act of Gen. Grant in giving a trial to the plan of civil service reform. We demand that the plan, or any other that may be substituted in its place as better, shall have a fair and unembarrassed trial, that every effort shall be made to secure competent men for public service, and that honesty and incorruptibility shall be deemed qualifications as essential as competency and intelligence.

8. That the Republican party has given full evidence during the past eleven years of its ability to administer the government honestly, faithfully and successfully. It has, within that time, maintained the honor of our National flag at home and abroad; preserved the Union from disruption and restored it in its integrity; secured to all classes and conditions of men the rights given to them by their Maker, and having proclaimed liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof, has given to that proclamation the full effect to which it was entitled; and we therefore, in its name, claim from the people a continuance of their confidence, and fearlessly challenge their scrutiny into its acts.

9. That we point with pride to the record of Gen. Grant's administration of the National Government. Not only has the weight of internal taxation been almost wholly removed from the people's shoulders, but three hundred millions of the national debt have been paid off—a result never before attained by any other people under like circumstances, and for which we are indebted to the rigid honesty strict economy and sterling integrity which the President has brought to the administration of a national affairs.

10. That we present his name for renomination to the Presidency, confident that the people will again rally to the support of the man who so nobly fought their battles; who, under the guidance through its struggle to maintain its existence, and who has since so successfully administered the affairs of the government as to command general admiration, at home and abroad.

11. That we will stand by the government in the foreign policy so firmly marked out and adhered to by President Grant. The honor of the nation, we feel, is safe in his hands, and the flag under which he never suffered defeat, will not be dishonored while he is kept in the front.

12. That we congratulate the people of Pennsylvania on the final accomplishment of the call for a convention to revise and amend the Constitution of the State and we earnestly urge upon our friends to see that delegates are chosen in their respective districts committed to the policy of incorporating in that instrument a clear and decisive prohibition of special legislation.

13 That we hereby declare our opposition to [illegible] the transportation of [illegible] tions to market.

15. That the thanks of our party are due to Governor John W. Geary, under whose lead our principles have twice been successfully vindicated in Pennsylvania; the State debt has been reduced during his administration; our soldiers orphans have been carefully cherished and educated; and our laws have been efficiently and wisely enforced. Under the necessity of parting with him as Governor, in conformity with the Constitution of the State, Governor Geary carries with him in his retirement the heartfelt wishes of its people for his future prosperity and happiness.

16. That we present with peculiar pride and especial confidence of their success, the names of Gen. John F. Hartranft for Governor, Ulysses Mercur for Supreme Judge, Gen. Harrison Allen for Auditor General, and the gentlemen this day named for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention. They are all men worthy of an active and ardent support at the hands of the Republican party, and we call upon our friends throughout the State to rally as one man to secure their triumphant election.

17. That the President of this Convention, in connection with the candidates this day nominated for State officers appoint the chairman and one Secretary of the State Central Committee, and that the State Committee be made up on the basis adopted last year, and the two years preceeding.

TRUE AND FALSE MODESTY.—Nothing is more amiable than true modesty, and nothing more contemptible than that which is false; the one guards virtue the other betrays it. True modesty is ashamed to do anything that is repugnant to right reason; false modesty is ashamed to do anything that is opposite to the humor of those with whom the party converses. True modesty avoids everything that is unfashionable. The latter is only a general, undetermined instinct; the former is that instinct limited and circumscribed by the rules of prudence.

"MOLLY, shut the door; it's getting awful cold in here!" was the remark of an Albany husband, as he hung his coat on a hitching post and prepared to retire on the curbstone, under the impression that he had arrived at home."

JURUBEBA.

Is a powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in Spring, when the Languid and Debilitated system needs strength and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble, strength to the weak, animation to the dejected, activity to the sluggish, rest to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the MOST POWERFUL TONIC properties known to MATERIA MEDICA, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a SPECIFIC in all cases of IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD, DERANGEMENT OF THE LIVER AND SPLEEN, TUMORS, DROPSY, POVERTY OF THE BLOOD, DEBILITY, WEAKNESS OF THE INTESTINES, UTERINE OR URINARY ORGANS.

DR. WELL'S EXTRACT OF

JURUBEBA,

Is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the Bowels, Quiets the Nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and, by its powerful Tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system JOHN Q. KELLOGG, 18 Platt St., New York,

THE BELLEFONTE RING AT THE READING CONVENTION.

"The King of France with forty thousand men, Marched up the hill and then marched down again."

Hurra for Noyes, bellowed Meek and these political croakers. And away they went. Orvis, Meek, Furey, Alexander et id omnia genus, or as Nasby would put it ad omnium gatherum. Noyes! Nothing but Noys would answer the cabals of Centre and Clinton counties.—But alas and "alack aday!" Their very advocacy of poor Noyes was his political death. The unterrified of that Convention, could not be terrified by the Centre cohorts into his nomination.—Their splurging and cuteness and tricks and belching, killed poor Noyes, then and there. And when the balloting was over, the Centre county Ring, true to their nature became original Buckalew men. They were for Buckalew first, last and all the time.

Wallace (the sly) of coffee pot notoriety, to gratify his jealousies of, and his enmity to Buckalew chuckled at the noise the Centre county Ring made for Noyes; but would not trust them with any of the moves made on the political checker board.

And to show the contempt which Wallace had for Orvis, Meek & Co., he procured weak-kneed Bigler, (who under James Buchanan carried the Lecompton Kansas Constitution in his breeches pocket,) before the final vote was announced, to change his vote from Noyes to Buckalew. Oh! how the Ring did swear.

But, Meek recovered when Jim Burns was selected as one of the Democratic Delegates to the Baltimore Convention, as he will get the persuasive arguments for Meek to support Greeley for President. It is an old adage that "one good turn deserves another."

Burns knows Meek and knows his price. And may we not add (in a whisper), that Meek knows Burns.

SENATOR SUMNER ON THE WAR PATH.

[The following article was prepared for last week; but was crowded out to make room for the report of Decoration Day.—EDITOR.]

The distinguished Senator from Massachusetts takes advantage of the closing hours of the Senate's deliberations to launch maledictions upon General Grant and his administration. Proclaiming himself within the ranks of the Republican party—a Republican—he deals forth with great bitterness charges of gift taking, nepotism, maladministration, etc., etc., against the President.

The time was probably chosen that the assault might influence the Republican Convention which meets to day in Philadelphia, to nominate a candidate for the Presidency. To the fact that any member of the party may, within proper limits, point out wrong doing or evil tendency on the part of those to whom the affairs of State have been trusted, the great mass of the people, will heartily respond and say, amen; but this must come in candor, frankness and fairness, at no time losing sight of the good, while presenting the wrong.

In Senator Sumners attack, we have, therefore, to consider the animus, the time, the place, but above all the facts. To the first grave charge, we ask, what gift taking can the Senator show the President has been guilty of? Gen. Grant, before he became President, we admit, did receive presents, the out flow of greatful hearts for the service he had rendered the country. Service which money could not repay, nor gratitude express. Was this wrong? And if so, wherein the error?

One of the cases singled out by the Senator as evil in example and tendency, was that of the presents made by Mr. Borie, who afterwards became Secretary of the Navy. These we may say to the Senator were quite anterior to any thought that Gen. Grant would ever become President, and certainly without either thought or purpose, that the giver would ever become one of his Secretaries. An office, neither solicited, nor wanted, and only accepted to bridge over, until another could be selected to fill it, and then relinquished.

And in the matter of the charge of appointing relations to office, we ask in all gravity, while deprecating the act, what evil has befallen us through this? Have these men, whom he knows better than others, been dishonest or disloyal to their trusts? Has malfeasance been proven upon them? We answer, no. The proof exists that those nearest of kin, have been held to the most rigid accountibility, and where either faltered in their trust, there, first fell admonition and censure. But, Senator, the results are what the mass of the party only consider, for with them it is not so much who holds the office—as it seems to be with the Senator—but have they faithfully administered them and kept faith with the high purpose of the party?

Has the President not, more than any other President we have ever had, sought out what the people most wished, and made that the rule, and the guide? Has he not halted where they wished him to halt, and advanced on the line they indicated? Who shall, therefore, charge official corruption?

From all around comes the busy hum of industry. The farmer upon his farm, the mechanic in his shop, the miner in the mines, all in contentment, resting assured and conscious, that their President is honest, capable and faithful.—And from this tranquility they wish not to be disturbed even by the forensic eloquence of the great Senator from Massachusetts.

For the REPUBLICAN.

COL. BROWN:

In the last Watchman we have another bulletin announcing the fact that, "D. F. Fortney, Esq., chairman of the Democratic County Committee, is yet absent in Pittsburg." But the Watchman does not inform its dupes and tools, what detains the "Chairman of the Democratic County Committee in Pittsburg."

May I not ask, who pays the expense? Have the Commissioners granted further indulgence to this embezzler of the peoples taxes? Do they allow him to splurge on the peoples money? Why do they not compel him to pay up? His bail is good; but, gentlemen, do you feel secure? You may have used some of the money. For this reason you may feel like giving Mr. Fortney a little license; but do you suppose we do not understand your actions in this affair? Why suffer these things and claim to be honest men? Do you not know that I know all about it? Fortney is a defaulter. Cannot the Ring bring the tax defaulter back, to howl out against defaulters, peculators, thieves and robbers of the peoples money and taxes? Remember, Fortney is Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, and remember at the same time, that he is a defaulter, that he has collected the taxes off the people and failed to pay them into the treasury.—He is a defaulter. His bail know it. They dare not say one word, for fear that he sticks them. If this is not true, let his bail speak. I hate hypocrisy. I hate dishonesty. I hate anything that is not the fair thing. Can Fortney explain? Can he tell where the money is, and what he has done with the amount of his Duplicate? Can he tell upon whose money he is now spending his time in Pittsburg? Where is "Cato"?

BRIDGE.

ON BOTH SIDES.—There are some good articles in favor of Grant in the Philadelphia Press. Articles which we would like to copy; but we dare not do it, for the reason that we cannot tell where Col. Jno. W. Forney stands. He professes to be in favor of Grant and Wilson. We do not believe a word of it. He is no more the friend of Grant than he is of Hartranft. If he is the true friend of Grant, (and we doubt it,) he will work with all his energy and zeal for the State ticket. He cannot defeat or help to defeat Gen. Hartranft in October and expect the State to vote for Grant in November. We state it now, and we wish it distinctly understood, if Forney defeats, by his egotism and eccentricities, Gen. Hartranft in October, Gen. Grant will be defeated two to one in November. Forney, we wish to call your attention to this fact. Moreover we want you to remember it. Quit playing fool.

—H. Greeley's venerable uncle, who has just died in New Hampshire, was evidently a man of sound judgment and wise foresight. One of his last remarks was: "Horace will never be President of these United States! He is not the man; I know him! He is not the man!"

POLITICAL ITEMS.

—The Baltimore American, after taking a careful view of the field, thinks that with Greeley and Brown as the opposing candidates, there is a cheerful prospect of carrying even Maryland for Grant.

—The Boston Traveler says: 'It is not known that a single active Republican of Massachusetts, outside of the delegation to Cincinnati, now supports the nomination of Greeley for President. No political movement ever fell so dead in Massachusetts as the one which culminated in Cincinnati. It would be impossible to make up a Greeley electoral ticket outside of the Democratic party."

—The Springfield (Ill.) State Journal denies the truth of dispatches recently telegraphed from there, representing that nearly all the Democratic papers in Illinois are unconditionally for Greeley. It says they are for Greeley only on condition he be nominated by the National Democratic Convention; and that there are not a dozen of papers in the State that have hoisted the Greeley ticket.

—The Louisville Courier-Journal begs the Cincinnati Commercial and other Liberal organs to cease their assaults upon Miss Nellie Grant, and to renew their attacks upon the President's father and brothers-in-law.

—The Chicago Times says that at a very large meeting of colored citizens in that city on Tuesday evening 4th inst, the expression was unanimous in favor of Grant, and it did not transpire that Greeley had a supporter in the room.

—"I am no man's man."—Sumner's Speech.

Whose are you, then? "The Lord is my keeper, I shall not want," sang the tuneful David; but Charles is not like David, for he is eternally wanting something, and we question if even David's keeper could satisfy him.

—"I have no policy of my own to interpose against the will of the people."—Grant's Letter, May 29th, 1863.

"I care nothing for promotion as long as our arms are successful."—Grant to Sherman, Feb. 1862.

—"Mr. Greeley's platform," says an enthusiastic Liberal, "is broad enough for every patriot to stand upon." The objection has been made, however, that it is "too thin" to bear much pressure.—Chicago Post.

—The New York Tribune reads the New York World out of the Democratic party, and the Chicago Tribune reads the Chicago Times out. Funny.

—For a loyal administration, to protect the negro, awe the rebel, and give the workingman a chance, Grant's little finger is worth a baker's dozen of Greeley's.—Wendell Philips.

—From the constantly increasing howls of the free traders over the iron tariff, one would suppose that the iron duty had kept increasing from year to year. The fact is that the present duty on pig iron is the lowest that the country has seen for sixty years, with the exception of a short time in 1857.

—The Pittsburgh Dispatch says: Forney is making himself ridiculous by the antics he is cutting on political questions. He is continually announcing changes, and acting precisely as political financiers do when they wish to be bought. We hear a vast deal about his "influence," and his purpose to exert it this way or that. If he does not act differently in the future from what he has in the recent past, he will have little influence to "throw" one way or the other.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will give more relief in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, no matter how severe, than any other article known to medical men.

It is often remarked by strangers visiting our State that we show a larger proportion of good horses than any other State in the Union. This, we tell them, is owing to two principal reasons; in the first place, we breed from the very stock; and in the second place, our people use Sheridans Cavalry Condition Powders which in our judgment are of incalculable advantage.

HARTRANFT.—The following from Gen. Burnside, in his speech at Philadelphia is a handsome but deserved compliment to our candidate for Governor:

"General Hartranft joined me in the war and was an efficient, honest officer, and proved himself a perfect man. I have great confidence in him, and can trust him. I earnestly implore you to stand by your State ticket. No man paid greater attention to his wounded soldiers than he. He was careful in all his duties. His courage is not doubted. Stand firm and all will be well. [Cheers.]

Conversation.

Conversational power is a gift of birth. It is some men's nature to talk. Words flow out incessantly, like drops from a spring in the hill side—not because they are solicited, but because pushed out by an inward force that will not lie still. We have known persons whose tongues ran from the rising of the sun until the going down of the same. One sentence ran into another as continuously as one link in an endless chain took hold in another link. We always marvel whether they do not wake up of nights and have a good tale all to themselves just for the relief it would give them. From this extreme there is every degree of modification until we come to the opposite extreme, in which men seem almost unable, certainly unwilling to utter their thoughts. Some men are poor in single language. They have thoughts enough, but the symbols of thought—words—refuse to present themselves, or come stingily. Others are silent from the stricture of secretiveness. Others are cautious, and look before they speak, and before they are ready the occasion has passed.

In regard to language itself, the habit of reading pure English, and of employing it every day, is the best drill for a good talker. People always act more naturally in their every day clothes than they do when dressed up for Sunday, and the reason is, that they are unconscious in the other. It is so in speech; if one allows himself to talk coarse and vulgarly every day and out of company, he will most assuredly find it not easy to talk well in company.

Habit is stronger than intention, and somewhere the common run of speech will break through and betray you. To converse well at some times requires that you shall converse well at all times. Avoid on the one side vulgarism, all street colloquialisms, even when they are not vicious; for by-words and slang sentences amuse only when they are new. As soon as they become habitual they corrupt your language without any equivalent in amusement.

On the other extreme, avoid magniloquent and high flown language of any kind. Nothing is more tedious than a grand talker. Everybody laughs at a pompous fellow who lugs into his conversation big words or pedantic expressions. The best language in the world is that which is so simple and transparent that no one thinks of the words you use, but only of the thought or feeling which they express.—Beecher.

FASHION is not without her just revenges. Instead of concealing grey hair, coloring it or disguising it, the most "stylish" lady of her set is one whose face is as young as ever, but whose locks are frosted. So that now, among the fashionable tints of hair, one may reckon grey. For this, the buyer of grey hair, always compelled to pay an unusual price, finds the commodity still further increased in value, for, owing to the scarcity of elderly women and the efficiency of hair-dyes, the market has always been insignificant.

A MINISTER at an eating house gave the order, "Roast beef, well done, thou good and faithful servant."

WHEN a watch is sold it always changes hands; this seems odd on the face of it.

Treating.

If I could persuade all young people never to treat each other, nor be treated, I think one-half the danger from our strong drink would be gone. If I cannot get you to sign the total abstinence pledge binding until you are twenty-five, I would be glad to have you promise three things: First, never to drink on the sly, alone; second, never to drink socially, treating or being treated; and third, when you drink do it openly and in the presence of some man or woman whom you respect.

Now, boys, if you want to be generous and treat each other, why not select some other shop beside the liquor shop? Suppose as you go by the postoffice, you say, "Come boys, come in and take some stamps." These stamps will do your friends a real good, and will cost you no more then drinks all around. Or go by the tailor's store, and say, "Boys, come in and take a box of collars." Walk up to the counter, free and generous and say, "What style will you have." Why not treat to collars as well as treat to drinks? Or go by a confectioner's and propose to chocolate drops all around. Or say, "Boys take a newspaper." Or say, "I'll stand a jack-knife all around!"

How does it happen that we have fallen into a habit, almost compulsory, of social drinking? You drink many a time when asked to, when really you do not want to. When a man has treated you, you feel mean and indebted, and keep a sort of account current in your mind, and treat him. And so in the use of just that agent, which at the best is a very dangernus one, you join hand in hand to help each other ruin, instead of hand in hand to help each other in temperance.—Thos. K. Beecher.

HARMONY AT HOME.—1. We may be quite sure that our will is likely to be crossed during the day; so let us prepare for it.

2. Every person in the house has an evil nature, as well as ourselves, and therefore we are not to expect too much.

3. Look upon each member of the family as one for whom Christ died.

4 When inclined to give an angry answer, let us lift up the heart in prayer.

5. If from sickness, pain or infirmity we feel irritable, let us keep a very strict watch over ourselves.

6. Observe when others are suffering and drop a word of kindness.

7. Watch for little opportunities of pleasing, and put little annoyances out of the way.

8. Take a cheerful view of everything, and encourage hope.

9. Speak kindly to dependants and servants, and praise them when you can.

10. In all little pleasures which may occur, put self last.

11. Try for the soft answer that turneth away wrath.

A TOUCHING incident is reported from Chattanooga, Tenn. An utter stranger called on a respectable farmer last week and asked him if his house had not been robbed during the war. The farmer replied that it had. "I," said the stranger, "was one of the marauding party that did it. I took a little silver locket." "That locket," said the farmer, bursting into tears, "had been worn by my dear, dear child." "Here it is," replied the stranger, visibly affected: I am rich; let me make restitution; here are $20 for your little son." He gave the farmer a $50 bill, and received $30 in change. He then wrung the farmer's hand warmly and left. The farmer has since dried his tears and loaded his shot gun. The $50 bill was bad.

A DIVISION OF LABOR.—A very serious insurrection broke out at Manilla recently. Several priests were concerned in the affair, but the Governor was not to be overawed by them. When a priest went to ask him to spare some prisoners who had been brought in, he answered: "I know my business; you go and attend to yours. I shall shoot the rebels; you can pray for their souls." This is a new application of "the division of labor."

A YOUNG lady at Council Bluffs being informed by her "feller" that he intended to cease his attentions, cowhided him around the room, and, as he sprang through the open window, told him with a parting lick, that would teach him to be more careful for the future not to trifle with gentle and loving hearts.

THREE questions to be put to ourselves before speaking evil of any man: First, is it true? Second, is it kind? Third, is it necessary.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefittad by it, will most certainly be cheated.

SPEAR FOR THESE REMEDIES.

Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON, JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my own experience of it.
Yours, with respect, JAS. THOMPSON.

HON. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so week, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. WOOD.

Or Wasting away of the Body.

REMEMBER
THAT
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES

Are the medicines you require to purify the Blood, excite the torpid Liver to healthy action, and to enable you to pass safely through any hardships or exposure.

DR. HOOFLAND'S PODOPHYLLIN,

Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.

TWO PILLS A DOSE.

The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it speedily from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 631 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Medical.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seemes to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas Tetter, Salt Rheum, geald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leycorrhea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

A POLITICAL, LITERARY AND MISCELLANEOUS NEWSPAPER.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.—started in September, 1851,—has for many years been recognized as among the most successful, popular, and influential newspapers in the country. Its proprietors, with greatly increased resources and experience, will spare no pains to extend and strengthen its claims upon the confidence and support of the public.

The TIMES is a Republican journal, and will be devoted, as in the past, to an intelligent and firm support of the Republican Party. It will sustain, with all its ability, the principles and policy which have rendered the party so justly famous in our history. It will advocate those measures by which the honor, the peace and the prosperity of the nation can be best conserved and promoted. It will vindicate our dignity before foreign nations, and will discountenance aught by which our self respect or our love for republican institutions could be endangered.

The TIMES desires to be judged by the highest possible standard of journalism. Its EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT will be conducted in a spirit of fairness and impartiality, free alike from personal rancor or undue favoritism; and will be the production of the ablest and most experienced writers upon all the subjects treated. Its CORRESPONDENCE will be full and timely. Its REPORTS will be prepared with the utmost care, and will embrace every fact or public expression of opinion that possesses interest and importance. The LITERARY DEPARTMENT will be in thoroughly capable hands, and will present a full review of the literature, the fine arts, the music, and the drama of the day.

As a family paper, free from all appeals to vulgar or impure tastes, the TIMES will continue unexceptionable, and may be safely admitted to every domestic circle.

The Sunday edition of the TIMES will include, in addition to all the news selected and original literary matter of the most varied and agreeable character. Special arrangements have been made to impart new attractions to this feature of the paper.

The WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY editions of the TIMES will be compiled with the greatest care, and will contain selections from the most important contents of the Daily issue, besides matters of interest to the agricultural sections of the country. All who prefer a newspaper but once or twice a week will find these editions admirably suited to their requirements.

A special edition of the TIMES for EUROPEAN circulation will be published every Wednesday and Saturday, in time for the European mails, and will be valuable and welcome to our friends abroad, whether Americans or of any nationality than our own.

All these editions of the TIMES are of the very largest size, on large quarter sheets, each containing fifty-six columns printed in clear and legible type, at the following rates.

THE "horoskope" for March is thus cast by Josh Billings: "The man born this month will be inclined tew blow a little. He will be a domestik man, and will know how to rok the kradle and pare potatoze. He will marry the only daughter of a widdo, and will be a good judge of mothers-in-law. He will die about the usual time in life, and leave a house and lot, with a small mortgage on it. He never will run for offics but once and then will get beat. The woman who appears this month will be an old maid till she is twenty years old, and then will suddenly put a stop tew this kind of bizzness, by investing in a yung man. She will be a good housekeeper, and kno how to make a plum puddin with the plums left out. She will hang on to her buty till she is about forty-five; after that she will have to take her chances."

Miscellaneous.

THE GREAT MAGICAL HAIR FORCER Will force a beautiful set of Whiskers or Mustache in from two to three months, on any person over 12 years old. It is one of the best preparations to make the whiskers grow, that ever was known. One bottle of it is sufficient to produce a very strong beard. It does not in any way stain or injure the skin. Try it—it is no humbug. Price 25 cents per bottle, or four for $1. Sent by mail, post-paid, to any address, on receipt of price. Address, WM. C. WAGNER, Arendsville, Adams co., Pa. v3-33-1y.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

Wednesday Morning, June 12th, 1872.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

We would call the special attention of postmasters and our subscribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, (returning a paper does not answer the law,) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for its payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he has subscribed or not, its reponsible for the payment.

3. If a person orders his paper to be discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

4. If the subscriber orders the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it, if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima-facie evidence of intentional fraud

Lodge Directory.

Bayard Post, No. 90, G. A. R., meets every Monday evening, at 7½ o'clock, in Bush's Arcade.

Bellefonte Council, No. 270, O. U. A. M., meets every Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in Bush's Arcade.

Bellefont Lodge, No. 190, K. of P., meets every Friday evening, at their hall, in Loeb, May & Loeb's building, Allegheny street.

Centre Lodge, No. 153, I. O. O. F., meets every Thursday evening at the Odd Fellow's hall. Degree meetings first Saturday of each month.

Minerva (Rebekah Degree) Lodge, No. 53, meets on the Saturday night next to and immediately before the full of the moon of each month, in Odd Fellow's hall.

Bellefonte Encampment, No. 72, I. O. O. F., meets at the Odd Fellow's hall, on the second and fourth Mondays of every month.

Bellefonte Lodge, No. 268, A. Y. M., meets on Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock, on or before each full moon, in Bush's Arcade.

PERSONS indebted to Dr. J. K. Holloway, of Akron, Ohio, must make immediate payment to avoid additional costs. 24-2t.

SCHOOL directors should not delay in forwarding the Annual District Reports, as the time is here, and thus secure their appropriation from the State.

NEW BARN.—Mr. Jessie Swartz, of Walker twp., raised a fine large bank barn on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Swartz resides near Hublersburg, and is one of Centre county's best farmers.

ORE.—Messrs. J. & S. Huston, of Nittany Hall, are sinking a shaft—prospecting for iron ore. They have reached the depth of 80 feet. They are enterprising, good citizens, and sound Republicans. They deserve to find ore.

CONVALESCENT.—Mrs. Isaac Woomer, of Nittany Hall, was taken suddenly ill on Friday last. For a time her life was dispaired of, but she is now, under the treatment of that excellent physician, Dr. L. M. Holloway, recovering slowly but surely.

ACCIDENT.—Mary Yeager, aged ten or twelve years, daughter of Henry Yeager, fell down the steps at the Butts House in this place, breaking her wrist and cutting her face badly. Dr. James H. Dobbins was called, and under his skillful treatment she is getting along remarkably well.

POTATOES.—W. W. Shadle one of the enterprising farmers of Benner township, will accept our thanks for a large lot of excellent potatoes. Mr. Shadle is a sound Republican a first class farmer, an enterprising citizen. The influence of such men, is always felt in the community in which they live.

RECKLESS.—A reckless youth, whose name we have not learned, while driving on Sunday last, a hired horse to get the worth of his money out of him, run over a little child of Geo. F. Millers, at Valentine's forges, and broke its leg. It is a miracle it was not killed. When will men learn wisdom? And when will the people enforce the laws against such reckless and wicked conduct?

COLLISION.—Two freight trains on the B. E. V. Railroad collided on the 10th inst., near Beech Creek. One of the Engines was broken in such a manner as to be worthless, and five of the cars were broken up. There was no person injured. The engineer, after getting his train, west, under full headway, run off the track again at Howard. No damage was done, but the smash up and the run off delayed the passenger train about 2½ hours. Was it the result of carelessness?

ANOTHER SMASH UP.—On last Monday night as the Passenger train from Tyrone left Bellefonte, the Locomotive ran over a cow just below the Milesburg Iron works, owned by Messrs McCoy & Linn. Hon J. D. Cameron had a special car attached. This car was thrown from the track, over turned and capsized into the creek. Mr. Cameron, himself was not on the train. His car is badly broken. None of the passengers or employees of the road were injured. It is a strange thing that the Engineers do not keep a look out for cows, and when they see them on the track, stop the train. Why endanger the lives of hundreds of passengers, for the mere fun of killing a cow? We may be wrong in our judgment of this matter; but we confess, that it is hard for us to see it in any other light.

PERSONAL.—Col. John H. Stover, a native and former resident of this county, but now a resident of Versailles, Morgan county, Mo., paid our sanctum a visit on Tuesday. He was a delegate to the National Convention which met in Philadelphia last week. Col. Stover is looking hale and hearty, and informs us that he only weighs 301 pounds. Centre county has furnished the West and South with some of the very best of men.

—Rev. Mr. Lafferty, who, during the war, was Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in this place, paid us a visit last week. He was, during the war, a sound patriot, and outspoken in everything pertaining to the vigorous prosecution of the war. He is now stationed at Canton, Ohio, where he has a fine Church, and is beloved by his entire congregation. He is a brilliant preacher and a good man.

—L. D. Apsley, with Stewart, Marks, Ralph & Co., manufacturers and wholesale dealers in Tobacco, Snuff and Segars, 115, Arch St., Philadelphia, paid us a flying visit yesterday. Mr. Apsley is a native of Lock Haven, an intelligent, active and energetic young man, and the business firm he represents has the reputation of being one of the best in the city. Our merchants would do well to purchase their tobacco from this house. Send in your orders to L. D. Apsley.

GRAY'S CHURCH.—Decoration day, we learn from our Reporter, was observed as, follows at Gray's church, in Half Moon valley. On the 30th ult., the Seller Zouaves, the Buffalo Run Sabbath School and part of the Stormstown Sabbath School met to perform the solemn duty of decorating the soldiers' graves with flowers. The Zouaves arrived at Gray's Church at 3 o'clock, P. M. Forty four of the Zouaves were present. They then received the above named sabbath schools and formed a procession of three hundred and twenty persons, besides quite a number in conveyances, and marched to the grave yard. They not only decorated the graves of the soldiers' of the late rebellion; but the graves of one Mr. Murray, who fought in the war of 1812. After the Decoration ceremonies were performed at Gray's grave yard the procession formed and marched to Meek's grave yard and decorated the grave of an old, true and tried soldier who fought in the Mexican war. After which the procession disbanded and returned to their homes, feeling that they had performed a most sacred duty.

PUBLIC SCHOOL HOUSE.—The proposals of G. W. Tate, of Centre county, for building a public school house in this borough, were accepted last week. The building is to be about 95 by 70 feet, three stories high, with the most modern improvements in heating, ventilation, &c., and from a casual glance at the plan we judge it cannot prove other than an ornament to our town. The price named is 25,900.—Gazette

We can say to the people of Lewistown, that Mr. Tate is the right man in the right place. He is one of the best mechanics and Architects in the whole country. He does his work well and puts things through generally with energy, and according to contract. Your County Commissioners would do well to give him the Contract for the New Bridge to be built across the Juniata at Newton Hamilton. We take pleasure in recommending Centre county men. Especially such mechanics as G. W. Tate.

BIG SNAKE.—O. K. Forster, Esq., of Centre Mills, Miles township, this county, killed a few days since, a rattlesnake in the Elk creek narrows which measured four feet in length and flourished eighteen rattles. It was not much of a day for snakes either. O. K. must be quite an expert at snake killing, as he is at hunting, fishing, and singing. We sincerely hope that when he next starts out on a snake killing expedition that he will report several copperheads six feet and one inch, and many others not quite so long, dispensed with. Expert as O. K. may be in this business. Horace Greeley can beat him "all hollow" in destroying copperheads.

GOOD TIME.—"Dandy," a bay roadster owned by Forster Bro's of Centre Mills, Miles township, on last Monday afternoon, with S. K. Faust, Esq., and O. K. Forster in the buggy, made one-half mile in 1 min & 20 sec, on the trotting ground near Rebersburg. This is an untrained horse, and has never been entered on a regular course. Gen. R. D. Cummings of the Eagle Hotel Phila., that prince of Landlords, and lover of fast horses, should have this horse. He would soon train him so as to beat "Dexter."

LARGE.—On the 3rd inst, Mr. L. B. McEntire cut a tree on his farm near Spring Mills this county that measured over 17 feet in circumference. It is said to be the largest tree in Pennsvalley. Mr. McEntire expects to make 10,000 split shingles from this mammoth tree. Out of one cut, thirty feet from the butt, Mr. McEntire split 400 shingles. He was offered $40, for the tree before it was cut.

ACADEMY.—The semi-annual examinations of the Academy commenced on Monday June 10th will be continced until Thursday the 20th. All interested in these exercises are invited to attend.

DECORATION DAY AT UNIONVILLE, &c.—We learn from our Reporter that the ceremonies of Decoration Day, were most faithfully performed at both Unionville and Milesburg. At the request of Gen. Wm. H. Blair, Commander of Post Bayard, No. 90. G. A. R., Levi A. Miller, acting commander assisted by Frank Mullen, Frank Hunter, William Brown and Thos Benner, were detailed to attend to the decoration ceremonies at the Unionville and Milesburg Cemeteries. Also the Friends Cemetery near Snow Shoe Intersection.

From what we can learn everything passed off pleasantly at Milesburg. The detachment found quite a respectable number of citizens in waiting eager to participate in the ceremonies. Great credit is due to Miss Jennie C. Ryman, teacher of the Milesburg select school, who was in attendance with her entire school. After the regular decoration services were gone through with, our friend Levi A. Miller, addressed the school, making a very appropriate speech.

The detachment then proceeded to the Unionville Cemetery, where to their surprise, and to the great credit of the citizens of that enterprising and patriotic Borough and vicinity, they found about two hundred citizens—men, women and children on the ground, ready to see the newly adopted ceremonies performed, by the strewing of flowers upon the graves of their fallen comrades and heroes, sons and brothers.

The excellent Drum Corps of Capt. Bathurst was present, composed partly of those cheerful and bright little boys. This corps frequently visits our town to cheer us up, and to convince us that what boys have done, boys, yet, may do. It would probably be well to mention here, that Miss Antis, Teacher of the Unionville school, with her entire squad of bright and cheerful boys and girls were in attendance, rendering assistance and acquiting themselves nobly. Their fine appearance called forth the laudations of all present.

The usual preliminaries and ceremonies having been completed, the detail accompanied by kind friends, next proceeded to the Friends Cemetery, where they found three of their fallen comrades sleeping. After attending to their designated duties, the detachment left for home, where they had the honor to report the kind and hospitable treatment the patriotism and intelligence of the citizens of Unionville, Milesburg, &c. May the graves of our fallen Comrades be evergreen.

BLASTED.

BY BECKIE F. CANAN

A perfumed bud of pearly white.
Nodded and swayed in the morning air.
Its dewy jewels shone in the light,
And it looked so pure and sweet and bright,
Like the face of a lady fair.
But frost came down and nipped the bud of snow,
Just as the tinted petals tried to blow.

An ear of corn with waving silk,
Grew 'mid the rushing sword like blades:
With tiny, growing globules of milk.
All over the green cob laid.
Ere long it was swollen, black and dead.
Blasted, the good old farmer said.

A hope sprang up in weary life.
Driving away the gathering gloom,
O, how sweet was its cheering light!
How sad its early doom!
A storm arose, life's bark was fiercely tossed;
And, when it came to shore, its hope was lost.

A precious soul God gave to earth,
Watching its footsteps year by year.
A father's prayer was its at birth,
And, gift of precious untold worth,
A christian Mother's tear.
The tempter came and led that soul astray,
And now it weeps along Death's broad highway.

PORT MATILDA, June 2nd, 1872.

DR. JACKSON.—Dr. A. C. Jackson, Eclectic Physician, and justly celebrated, will be in Bellefonte, at Garman's Hotel, on Friday, June 21st; at Frenchville, Mulson's Hotel, Sunday June 23, and at Snow Shoe, Stage House, on Monday afternoon June the 24th. The mission of Dr. Jackson is, to endeavor to cure, the old and lingering complaints, which other physicians say are incurable. Dr. Jackson wishes it distinctly understood, that he never, under any circumstances, asks or advises a patient when examined, to undergo or take treatment from him. He merely makes a careful and thorough examination of every case presented, and then leaves the patients themselves to judge what is best to do; and if his examinations are not satisfactory, go elsewhere for medicine and treatment.

DRUG STORE.—The People's Drug Store formerly owned by Messrs Linn & Wilson, but now the property of R. F. Rankin & Co., is one of the finest Drug Stores in Central Pennsylvania. Mr. Rankin and his gentlemanly partner Mr. Williams, son of J. C. Williams, are both men of experience and education. They understand their business well and attend to it closely. They have just received a large stock of fresh and pure drugs, medicines, fancy articles, toilet soaps, brushes, &c.

PICTURES.—Persons wishing good likenesses of themselves, children or friends, can now be accomodated at a very small cost. Four pictures for 25 cts. The American Bon-ton Ferrotype company have opened a branch gallery, for a short time only, in room no 2, upstairs, in Bush's Arcade Building, Bellefonte Pa.

BETTER.—We learn with pleasure that Wm. Rogers, Esq., of Spring township, who injured his right limb some five weeks ago in the board walk leading from the bridge on High st., to the Spring. His right leg was so badly injured, that his Physcian Dr. Hibler, in order to save his life deemed the amputation of his foot and ankle necessary. On last Friday it was thought that Mr. Rogers, could not survive, but up to the present writing he is improving and is gaining strength slowly but surely. It is now the opinion of his physician that he will recover. That he may be restored to health, and live many years to bless and comfort his family, is our sincere wish.

NEW ARRIVAL.—L. L. Reizenstein, in his magnificent clothing store in the McBride building, on Allegheny st., has just received a large and splendid assortment of clothing, ready made, cassimers, cloths, &c., &c. Our fashionable young men should call at this store and examine the goods. This store is under the supervision of our old and enterprising friend A. Sternberg. Mr. Sternberg, is a live man and one of the most honorable salesmen in this portion of the State. He is genteel and affable in his manner, and his word can always be relied on. If you want a fashionable Sunday suit go to Sternberg's. If you want a Summer suit, go to Sternberg's. If you want to buy the nicest and best cassimers for a suit, go to Sternberg's.

For the REPUBLICAN.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN.—You will please announce the name of our fellow townsman Levi A. Miller, as a candidate for Sheriff, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention. Mr. Miller is one of the most active and popular Republicans in the county. He can always run ahead of his ticket. He is a good business man, a pure Republican, and is beloved by everybody. If the Convention in its wisdom should select him, we will guarantee his election.

MANY CITIZENS OF BELLEFONTE.

[For the REPUBLICAN].

MESSRS. BARGER AND BROWN:

GENTS:—Will you be so kind as to publish the fact in your valuable paper, that we are determined to push Jacob Baker, Esq., of Howard, for the office of Register, subject to the will of the County Republican Convention. Every person knows Jacob Baker, Esq. He is a sound Republican and Christian gentleman; just the man to beat Capt. Jno. H Morrison, the present Democratic incumbent. Please insert this and oblige.

MANY REPUBLICANS OF HOWARD.

For the REPUBLICAN.

COL. W. W. BROWN; Dear Sir:—You will confer a favor upon your old friends in Unionville and Union townshiy by announcing the name of Geo. Alexander as a candidate for Sheriff of Centre county, subject of course, to the decision of the Republican Convention. Sheriff Alexander filled this office once before, and did it to the satisfaction of everybody. He oppressed no one and was always kind and affable. We know not whether he will accept; but we want him.

UNIONVILLE.

NEW BOOKS.—NEW BOOKS.

"Roughing it" by Mark Twain.
"The Nether side of New York."
"Three Years in a man trap" Arther.
"Edna Browning," by Mary J. Holmes

"The Life that now is" Collyer
"Venetian Life," by W. D. Howitt
"The Heart of Christ," by E. H. Sears.

With many other late publications just received by J. Welch & Co.

A FIGHT.—A fisticuff, as we are informed, occurred at Centre Hall on Tuesday evening of last week between a young Mr. Spangler and Wm. Harkins. The result was that Mr. Harkins by numerous kicks from Spangler had his jaw broken in two places. A little too much benzine the cause. "Let dogs delight to bark and bite," &c.

PICTURES.—Messrs Harris & Bro., Photographers, Boalsburg, Pa., are both first class men and superior artists. They are doing a good business, as nearly every person for miles around, old and young, male and female are having their likeness taken. This is right. Why should we die, and leave no sign, no trace, no record behind us?

SOMETHING NEW.—The undersigned has been appointed sole Agent, in Centre county for the sale of the celebrated Bell Metal Pens. These pens are warranted non corrosive, and will outlast ten steel pens, samples gratis. Price $2 per gross. For sale by

H. Y. STITZER.

NOTICE.—Candidates will be charged $5,00 for the announcement of their names for office, to remain in the paper until the County Republican Convention, selects a ticket. The money must accompany the communication. EDITORS.

ACADEMY.—The annual closing exercises of the Academy will take place on Thursday Evening June 20th at the Court House. Doors open at 6½ exercises begin punctually at 7½ o'clock.

For the REPUBLICAN.

AKRON, May 28th, 1872.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I have just returned from the Anti-Secretetes convention held in the second church of Oberlin, Lorain Co., Ohio, and concluded to give you a few items of this exciting assembly. The main object of this convention was, to oppose Masonry, and to nominate a ticket for President and Vice President of the United States. Perhaps the nominating was done more for fashion's sake than anything else—as every clique now has its own nomination. The convention as a whole could not agree about nominating a Presidential ticket, and so the more enthusiastic held a caucus in the evening of the 23, 35 delegates being present and nominated Charles Francis Adams, for President, and Gen. Charles H. Howard, for Vice President.

On the 22nd, Prof. Sloan, of the Reformed Presbyterian Seminary, Pa., in Convention made the following remarks:

"Masonry must be and is a dangerous institution. Every mason is an enemy of the Government and of Jesus Christ. It is a profane institution; every Masonic oath is of the nature of suicide: It is a system of deception from beginning to end." Rev. Mr. Vaile, said; "Masonry is Deistical in character, they appeal to man's brute passions and curiosity to gain members, Masons are selfish and carry their selfishness into politics and religion. Their religion is mockery and an insult to God."

The last days proceedings was principally taken up by Dr. John D. Horn, who had taken 28 degrees himself, and was honorably dismissed from both Odd Fellows and Masons. He made known the signs, and initiated some, giving a description of the first degree. He also exposed the Royal Arch degree, which exhibited deep interest in the audience. Before adjourning it was agreed to publish, for free distribution, one thousand copies of President Finney's anti masonic book. This book I have already and believe it would do you much good, Col. to read, and will forward you the first one I can procure. It is good and very readable.

Of course an eccentric meeting like this could not entirely pass by Mr. Greeley—something had to be said either for or against him. Well, here it is: On Wednesday evening a large number of church members had gathered for prayer meeting, when some one got up before the time for the regular exercises had arrived, and made a most stirring speech for Greeley, declaring he was destined to be our next President; that he always was a tariff man and would favor the tariff party, &c., &c.; but in the midst of his speech he was interrupted by a member who arose for information, and said; Mr. President, is this a political caucus or a prayer meeting? I believe matters are a little mixed.

I will add a few items of our own city, and close: Last Saturday night I saw a woman out-general fifty strong men and capture a madman. Returning from a night visit I met on Main Street, a crowd of at least fifty men in front of a meat market all greatly excited. Upon inquiry I learned that some cuss of a man had taken possession of the money, books, and meat of a certain firm and was standing at the door within, armed with a cleaver and butcherknife, threatening to kill any one that might enter. The room was well lit, and all could see the wild animal in his fury, cutting and smashing things in a general way. The Policemen of the ward did not trust to enter the lion's den, but threatened to shoot him. This course was opposed. More policemen were sent for; but before their arrival a certain woman, learned of the state of affairs and declared she would go and arrest the man, and so she did. She made her way through the crowd and without any hesitation rushed into the room fronting the madman, and made him desist. Then the men took and bound him securely with ropes, and led him to the lock-up. Of course we captured the bear.

Universalists State Convention is in session this week in our city. The turnout is large. The chapel of Buchtel College, (Universalist) will be dedicated today.

Buchtel College is acknowledged to be the finest building in the state. It will be finished by fall. The estimated cost is two hundred thousand dollars. Next Sabbath, June 2nd, the Luthern denomination will dedicate their new church just erected at a cost of forty six ($46,000,) thousand dollars. Three members paid thirty six thousand dollars of this amount. A Sunday School room is to be additionally built, costing some twenty thousand. A few months ago the M. E. Congregation dedicated a church costing one hundred and twenty five thousand dollars. One man paid half of this. This church has a ten thousand dollar organ. But I must close.

DENTISTRY.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the Professional card of Dr. J. C. M'Entire. Dr. M'Entire is a young man of great energy and is, without doubt, one of the best Dentists of his age in this country. Teeth extracted without pain, by the use of Narcotic Spray. Artificial teeth inserted. Full, or partial sets. All work guaranteed and satisfaction given or no charge. Office opposite the REPUBLICAN building, Allegheny, St.

IOWA, NEBRASKA, KANSAS, CALIFORNIA.—Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed: if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas City and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 14-3m.

To the Citizens of Centre County and Elsewhere.

Your attention is particularly requested to the following certificate referring to those old established remedies, "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS', and "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC," from that well known citizen,

IRA C. MITCHELL, ESQ.:

"BELLEFONTE, PA., Oct. 27, 187

Sir:—I have just had the pleasure of meeting your Agent, the first representative of "Hoofland's German Bitters" and "Hoofland's German Tonic," it has ever been my good fortune to meet. For many years I have been purchasing and using them to the great comfort of myself, family and friends, having commenced their use on the recommendations of the Supreme Court Judges of this State. It affords me pleasure to have the opportunity to voluntarily recommend the same to all of my friends and acquaintances who may be suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Billiousness or affections of the Liver, of kind.

Very Respectfully,
IRA C. MITHELL."

These edicines are and have been well known to the community for the last twenty-five years, as genuine, reliable and deserving remedies for the diseases mentioned in the above certificate. Those afflicted should not fail to use them. Sold by all Druggists. C. M. EVANS, Proprietor, 631, Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 3-50-1y

CAUTION.—The public are respectfully cautioned against purchasing watches purporting to be of Elgin manufacture from parties not known to them, as reliable and responsible dealers.

The Excellence and good repute of the real Elgin Watches, has caused Foreign and American manufacturers to make inferior imitations, with the same or similar trade-marks as ours. These watches are being placed upon the market by unscrupulous traders, and in many cases by dealers who advertise American Watches at low prices, and make their profit by supplying, when considered safe to do so, the imitation movement. Avoid dealers who advertise cheap goods and sales upon the C. O. D. plan.

Demand in all cases the certificate of the National Watch Company, signed by T. M. Avery, President, as to genuineness of the watch purchased.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD.—We take this method of saying that there is no truth in the reports that have been circulated, "that we intend quitting the coal business as soon as our present supply is sold out." On the contrary we have on hands now and intend to keep on hand a well selected stock of the best Anthracite coal in the market.

TESTIMONY OF A PROMINENT PHYSICIAN.

"During the past eight years I have had frequent opportunities of witnessing the effect of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS upon persons suffering from Dyspepsia, Loss of Nervous Energy, Sexual Weakness, Diarrhœa, &c. I have known it to prove successful in many cases, where Allopathic, Homœopathic and Hydropathic treatment had failed. I still continue to use it in such complaints with uniform success, and have no hesitancy in pronouncing it the most efficacious remedy yet discovered for diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Liver, Kidneys or Bowels.
